Why Mapula did not come to school

Beginning of the story

Mapula did not come to school today. There was a big fire at her home. Mapula's family uses paraffin for cooking at home. They have a red paraffin stove. Mapula has a young brother, Thami, who never listens to anyone. Last night Thami played with the stove, even though it is not allowed. He also found the matches that someone had carelessly left lying around.

The little boy lit the stove and then, in his excitement, knocked the stove over onto the carpet. Soon the small room was on fire.

Middle of the story

Luckily for Thami, Mapula carried him out of the house. She asked the kind neighbours to phone the fire brigade. They arrived very quickly, and they used their long hoses to put the fire out. Soon the whole house was filled with water and smoke.

The fire was put out before Mapula's angry parents came home. Everything in the room was burned, and Mapula was very sad because her favourite baby doll and her beautiful workbooks were also burned in the fire.

End of story

Today, Mapula helped her mother to clean their house. She hung all the wet blankets and curtains in the sun to dry. Meanwhile little Thami had been sent to preschool, so that he could stay out of trouble. Tomorrow Mapula will go back to school. Her mother will buy her a new schoolbag.

Schoolgirls save boy's life

By Silvia Hlongwane

Two 9-year-old schoolgirls from Greenway Primary School rescued a 6-year-old boy who fell from a tree yesterday.

Brenda Smith and her friend Mandu Shabalala were on their way home from their first aid class at Greenway Primary School. They discovered 6-year-old Benny Basson, who had fallen from a tree that he had climbed into to pick some fruit. The girls rushed to help him. Benny had knocked his head and was unconscious. He had also cut his arm and could have bled to death if the two girls had not stopped his bleeding. The girls called for an ambulance and then managed to stop Benny's bleeding. Benny was lucky that the two girls were returning home from their first aid class and had their first aid boxes with them. They also had gloves, to protect themselves against possible HIV infection from handling another person's blood. They bandaged Benny's wound before the ambulance arrived.

Mrs Twala, the school principal, will be presenting the two girls with an award at the school assembly on Friday.
