Activity 13: LISTENING & SPEAKING

CONTENT

- Sequence a story.

Before you read

Look at the pictures and heading and try to predict what the text will be about.

The hare and the tortoise

What is a fable?

This is a fable. Fables are very old stories that have a moral message. In most fables you will find animals that can speak.

Beginning of the story

A long time ago, a hare and a tortoise lived in the green forest. The brown tortoise walked very slowly, and the hare always laughed at her. One day, the hare said to the tortoise, "Let's have a race". The tortoise agreed and the hare laughed loudly. All the other animals came to watch the race.

Middle of the story

The hare ran very fast and was soon very far ahead of the tortoise. He looked back but he couldn't see the tortoise because she was far behind.

"The tortoise is very slow," thought the hare. "She'll take a long time to get here. I'll run quickly and win the race." The hare sat against the tree and rested.

End of story

Soon, he fell asleep. While he was sleeping, he heard the other animals cheering. He thought he was dreaming. When he woke up, he saw the tortoise was near the finishing line.

The hare ran as fast as he could, but he couldn't catch up with the tortoise. The tortoise had already won the race.

Retell the story in the correct sequence.

First	the hare boasted about his speed .
Next	the tortoise accepted the challenge of a race.
Then	the hare raced ahead and took a nap. The tortoise passed him.
Last	the tortoise won the race. He didn't take a nap.

TOTAL	25

The moral of the story

The suggested moral, that “slow and steady wins the race” hides an important fact: the tortoise took up a challenge that he could not possibly win. If the hare had been intelligent and run quickly to the end, the tortoise would look quite foolish.

After the hare has crossed the finish line, hours before the tortoise has arrived, then the hare can sit down and take a nap. He will have shown his superior speed by having demonstrated it in the race, and then he can brag about it after the race, not during.

If we learn anything from the tortoise, it is that when you are faced with an opponent who will certainly defeat you, the only hope you have is that he defeats himself.

The correct moral: success depends on using your talents, not just having them.

An alternative moral of the story is that you can be more successful by doing things slowly and steadily than by acting quickly and carelessly.

THE HARE AND THE TORTOISE is one of the best known of Aesop's Fables. The hare is very confident of winning, so it stops during the race and falls asleep. The tortoise continues to move very slowly but without stopping and finally it wins the race.
