5. Your teacher will explain the rubric to you.

You will receive the following information on cue cards.

INTRODUCTION

A picture paints a thousand words they say. This is certainly true for Tommy Motswai, the famous South African artist.

DEVELOPMENT

Fun, laughter, joy and happiness are what Tommy Motswai's art is all about.

His work shows people going about their business, laughing, talking and shouting.

Cars and trains rush past, but Tommy Motswai hears none of this, as he has been deaf and mute since birth.

Motswai was born in Johannesburg in 1963. He studied art and won numerous awards for his art work.

He is known worldwide for his colourful paintings.

CONCLUSION

I am inspired by his positive attitude towards life. His paintings teach us that no matter your disabilities, life can still be bright and happy. You can reach your goals. It all depends on your attitude.

What to do

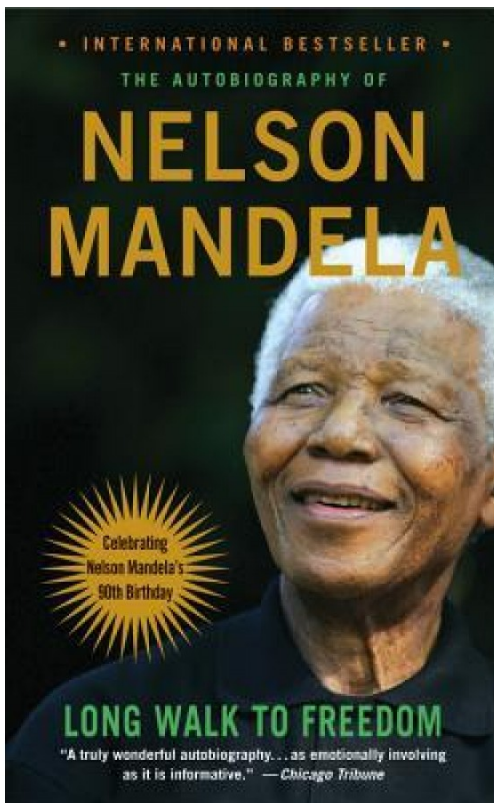

1. Pair up with a friend and read an extract from the biography of Tommy Motswai.
2. You may read together or take turns to read.
3. Be entertaining and have fun!

Tommy Motswai was born on 27 May 1963 in Johannesburg. Although he was born deaf he ultimately became a successful artist portraying the world around him on paper with pastels. In his own words, “I like to draw happy people doing ordinary things like travelling on buses, talking and singing, in places I know well, like Soweto.”

What to do...

4. Pair up with a friend and read an extract from the autobiography of Nelson Mandela.
5. You may read together or take turns to read.

“Long Walk to Freedom”, the autobiography of Nelson Mandela, describes the South African antiapartheid struggle from the perspective of one of its most important participants. In the book, Mandela describes his childhood; his development into a freedom fighter; his twenty-seven years in prison; and his remarkable role in the construction of a new, democratic South Africa. Long Walk to Freedom was published in 1995, the year after South Africa’s first democratic elections made Mandela the first black president of South Africa.

SECTION ADATE: _____ACTIVITY 1: LANGUAGE IN CONTEXT

Read information texts and answer language questions.

The art of Tommy Motswai

In “Studying by Lamplight”, we see a trio of school students concentrating hard as they study for their matric exams by lamplight. They are there because their teachers are on strike for higher pay; they are working by lamplight because Eskom is “load shedding”. These students are determined to get their matric certificates in order to get, as Tommy wrote ‘dream vision mission University’.

An image that is ultimately positive as the students are committed to overcoming the hurdles thrown at them by their educators and government.
