WHAT IS COMMUNICATION

Communication is a two way process. When we communicate, we have a sender (the person communicating) and the receiver (the person receiving the information). However, it is as if we talk in code and the receiver has to decode the message before he can understand it.

We respond based on:

- what we think we have heard
- our background and
- our beliefs.

When we communicate, words are only part of the story. We also use body language and tone of voice to communicate.

Tone of voice

Tone of voice is how we say something, compare for example:

- THIS is mine
- This IS mine
- This is MINE

Depending on how we say something, we can change the meaning of our sentence completely. Tone is very important in determining the real message.

Body Language

Body language is the way we use our bodies to communicate, for example rolling our eyes, using our hands and even the way we stand. It is important to keep our body language positive. Some examples of positive body language are:

- Making eye contact
- Keeping our hands open as opposed to clenched
- Smiling
- Standing up straight
- Leaning towards the person we are listening to
- Turning our head slightly towards the person talking.
